

Dear Administrator,

The Master Teacher in Personal Finance (MTPF) program is designed to provide middle and high school teachers with the personal finance content necessary to teach a high school personal finance course or to incorporate the topic into other courses, i.e. business, math, ICT, College and Career Readiness. In addition to content instruction, teachers will learn about a variety of high-quality resources they can use to teach the content in the classroom. The content and classroom resources are aligned with National Standards for Financial Literacy produced by the national Council for Economic Education. Teachers that complete this program are required to participate with students in MCEE student programs, i.e. the Finance Challenge. In addition, pre and post-testing of students using MCEE provided tests is required. This program is offered as a collaboration between the Mississippi Council on Economic Education, the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, Treasurer's Education About Money (TEAM) and the Mississippi Department of Education.

The cost of the program is $2,000 per teacher and includes instruction, materials and CEU costs. Teachers accepted to the program, where district funds are not available to pay, can request a scholarship from the Mississippi Council on Economic Education and its partners by checking below. Teachers who successfully complete the program will receive a $500 stipend ($250 payable upon successful completion of the course, $250 payable upon submission of pre/post test scores)

Please check one of the following options:

_____ We can pay $2,000 for this teacher to attend the program. The PO number is: _____

_____ We cannot pay $2,000 and would like to request a scholarship.

I certify my support of this teacher's participation in the Master Teacher of Personal Finance Program and support the incorporation of financial literacy in their classroom using the provided curriculum.
